

ABSTRACT

The present invention pertains to the field of computer software. More specifically, the present invention relates to one more populating, indexing, and searching
5 a database of fine-grained web objects or object specifications.

0935722.082204